Things to consider

- Establish early contact with the host country's organizing committee.
- Discuss together which topics the host country considers important for them to present on
- Be aware of major conferences taking place at the same place.

What do we need to do in preparation for the next conference in Berlin, 2027

- If possible, discuss topics of interest that are relevant to each country's Pediatric healthcare.
- Identify researchers from each country.
- Promote the conference early through your associations' network.
